WARM-UP

Our goal for this session is to complain about a meal.

SECTION 1

Section 1: Vocabulary, Expressions, and Terms

The server was very polite and helpful.

Our waiter brought the food quickly.

The steak was overcooked and very dry.

That restaurant is underrated and deserves more customers.

The soup is too salty for me.

The dessert is sweet and delicious.

The lemon tasted very sour.

They overcharged me for an extra item I didn't order.

The restaurant was crowded last night.

I'd like a refund for the incorrect order.

Pronunciation Tip

-ed sounds

The Soft "T": /t/

If the action ends in a Voiceless sound (no vibration in the throat), the "-ed" sounds like a sharp /t/.

Examples:

Walk -- Walked (sounds like walkt)
Laugh -- Laughed (sounds like laft)
Wash -- Washed (sounds like washt)

The Extra Syllable: /ɪd/

If the action ends in a T or D sound, we add a whole new syllable.

Examples:

Want -- Wanted (wan-ted)
Need -- Needed (nee-ded)

The Soft "D": /d/

If the verb ends in a Voiced sound (throat vibrates) or a Vowel, the "-ed" sounds like a soft /d/.

Examples:

Play -- Played (sounds like playd)
Call -- Called (sounds like calld)
Clean -- Cleaned (sounds like cleand)

PRACTICE

Read Out Loud

Last night, we ate at Lee's Restaurant. We picked burgers and pasta. The food arrived late. My burger tasted awful - it lacked salt. My friend's pasta was undercooked. We complained to the waiter. He apologized and checked the order. The chef fixed the food and brought new dishes. He added spices to the burger, and it tasted great. We thanked him and left a tip. "We didn't like it at first," my friend said. "But they fixed it at the end."
